Teaching and Leadership Philosophy

Although any learner-centered teaching philosophy, or Boyer Model of scholarship, is constantly in flux, the mission of any educator public or private, is: [1] to promote positive learning; [2] to motivate students, staff and graduates; [3] to provide a strong foundation for lifelong learning; and in modernity [4] to enhance career and life-work opportunities; [5] improve bottom-line financial metrics, and [6] to collaborate on a national and global basis

But, at this level of blended pedagogy, andragogy and heutagogy, the mission of any university president, college dean, or academic professor is to be a modern guide on the side; not bombastic sage on the stage. Moreover, these positions hold special gravitas in order to set the tone for future growth and involvement with the current and future enterprise wide didactic ecosystem of learners, sponsors, colleges, industry and institutions.

Finally, as a favorite on the domestic and European lecture circuit, Dr. Marcinko has often been quoted in the media, with frequent speaking engagements to 35 state medical societies and business groups in an entertaining and witty fashion.
